MISSION

Tidewater Community College provides collegiate education and training to adults of all ages and backgrounds, helping them achieve their individual goals and contribute as citizens and workers to the vitality of an increasingly global community.

COMMITMENTS THAT INFORM THE MISSION:

- Open access to high-quality, affordable education to prepare students for transfer to a four-year baccalaureate institution, as well as for entry or advancement in the workforce.
- Cultural diversity as a critically important strength for students to meet the changing needs of a pluralistic, democratic society.
- Lifelong learning to heighten the awareness of students to multiple paths for achievement while helping them pursue the choices most conducive to their individual needs.
- Partnerships and proactive responsiveness to develop cutting-edge programs that meet the changing needs of students and industry, while contributing to the economic, civic, and cultural vitality of the region, the Commonwealth, the nation, and the international community.
- A comprehensive range of programs and services recognized for excellence by leaders of business, industry, and government, and by educators in K-12 education and four-year colleges and universities.

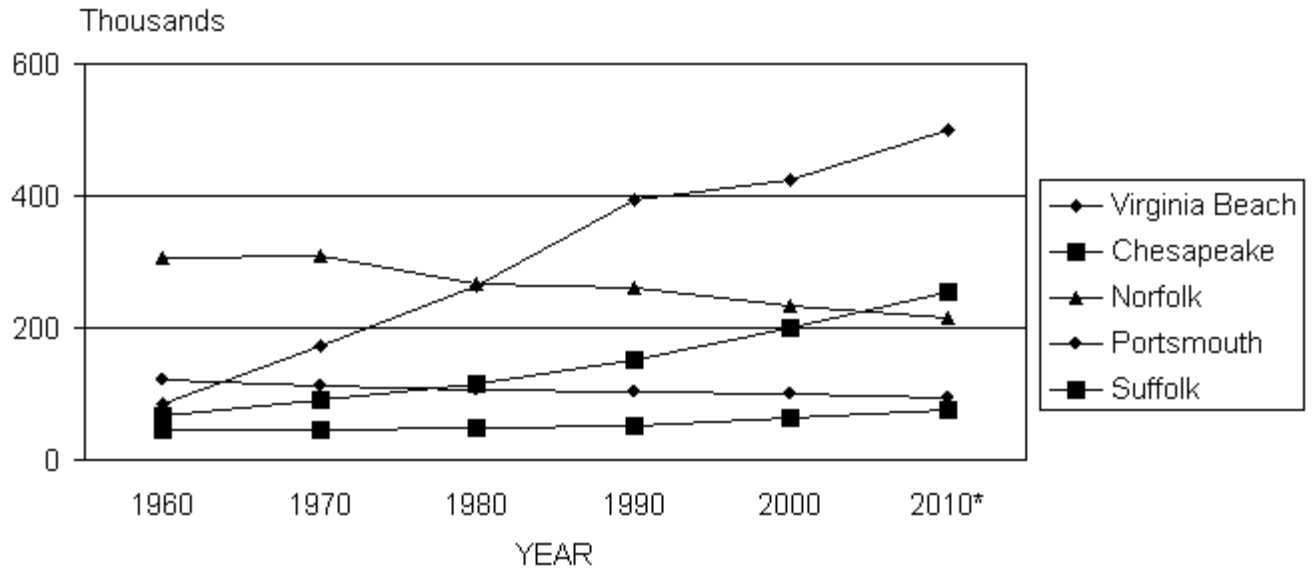

CORE VALUES

1. Access and successful student achievement
2. Respect for individuality and a commitment to fostering unique strengths in different people
3. Partnership with a range of constituencies
4. A vital and engaging learning environment
5. Service and accountability

TIDEWATER COMMUNITY COLLEGE

FACTS AND TRENDS 2004-2005

- Tidewater Community College is the second largest of the twenty-three community colleges in the Commonwealth of Virginia and the thirty-seventh largest in the nation. Additionally, TCC serves the second largest undergraduate student body in Virginia and the largest student body in the local Hampton Roads area.
 - The college provided college credit training and education for 35,592 different Hampton Roads residents in 2004-05.
 - Of the 44,957 Hampton Roads residents enrolled in higher education throughout Virginia, 45% enrolled at TCC.
 - The college's service area had 10,349 high school graduates in June 2004. Of this total number of high school graduates, 1,682 (16%) enrolled at Tidewater Community College in the fall.
 - Thirty-three percent of the students enrolled full-time, and sixty-seven percent enrolled part-time in fall 2004.
 - The average age of Tidewater Community College students is twenty-eight years, and almost half (44%) of the Tidewater Community College student body resides in the City of Virginia Beach.
 - Fifty-four percent of the fall 2004 students enrolled in college transfer programs, twenty-six percent enrolled in occupational/technical programs, and twenty percent were not enrolled in a specific curriculum.
 - There were 1,731 Tidewater Community College graduates during the 2004-05 year, and the majority (57%) received a college transfer degree (AA or AS).
 - The majority of 2004-05 graduates completed two-year college transfer degrees (AA, AS) within four years, AAS degrees within five years, and certificates within three years of initial enrollment.
 - A slight majority of 2004-05 graduates (53%) was 29 years old or less. Another thirty-three percent ranged between 30 and 44 years of age. The remaining fourteen percent was 45 years or older.
 - Approximately eighty-eight percent of the graduates were employed while attending TCC.
 - According to TCC's most recent Graduate Survey, seventy-one percent of the graduates, who were employed full-time, were working in a curriculum-related field. For those graduates employed by the same company as when they were enrolled, twenty-seven percent received promotions or pay raises after obtaining their degrees. Ninety-three percent of employers rated job performance of their TCC graduates as excellent or good, and ninety-seven percent would hire TCC graduates from the same program if positions were available.
 - The college has nine nationally accredited programs: Automotive Technology, Diagnostic Medical Sonography, Dietetic Technician, Health Information Technology, Nursing, Occupational Therapy Assistant, Physical Therapy, Radiologic Technology, and Respiratory Therapy.
 - Forty-five percent of the graduates continued their education at a four-year institution. Of these, seventy-four percent continued in a major related to their curriculum. Ninety-nine percent of the graduates indicated they would recommend TCC to anyone continuing their education.

COLLEGE HISTORY TIMELINE

- 1966 Governor Mills E. Godwin Jr. initiates the state sales tax with the goal of establishing a community college system. The Virginia General Assembly establishes the Virginia Community College System (VCCS) to provide college transfer and occupational/technical education.
- 1968 The Beazley Foundation donates the Frederick College site to the Commonwealth of Virginia to begin a community college in South Hampton Roads. The Frederick Campus opens as Region 22 Community College. This year marks the official founding of the College.
- 1969 The College's name is officially changed to Tidewater Community College, and Douglas Montgomery is named its first president. Harold McGee is named the first provost of the Frederick Campus.
- 1971 The College begins to use 11 barracks at the Camp Pendleton National Guard facility as a temporary Virginia Beach location. The College holds its first graduation with 55 graduates.
- 1972 Charles Downs is named provost of the Portsmouth Campus. The Virginia General Assembly and the City of Virginia Beach approve an allocation of $4.7 million to construct the Virginia Beach Campus in the Green Run section of Virginia Beach. Michael LaBouve is named provost.
- 1973 George B. Pass is named president of Tidewater Community College. The Virginia Beach Campus is formally dedicated by Governor Mills E. Godwin Jr., the "father" of Virginia community colleges. The City of Chesapeake pledges $1.8 million to open a third campus in Chesapeake and funds the purchase of adjacent land. Chesapeake College, a junior college founded in 1966 by Thomas E. Russ, is transferred to the city for the campus site, and the campus officially opens on February 1. Timothy H. Kerr is named provost.
- 1974 The College graduates its first class of shipyard apprentices from its joint apprentice program with the Norfolk Naval Shipyard.
- 1975 As a first step toward establishing a campus in Norfolk, the College opens the Norfolk Skills Center at a temporary location on 21st Street. Louis Monroe is named director.
- 1976 A $2 million bond issue is approved to expand the Chesapeake Campus.
- 1978 Construction begins on the first new building on the Chesapeake Campus. Later named the George B. Pass Building in 1991 in recognition of the work of President Pass, the building provides additional classroom and office space.
- 1979 With political resistance in the region, the Norfolk Skills Center closes. Tracking studies showed its students did not redirect to other neighboring higher education institutions in Norfolk. The Applied Science Program in Horticulture begins on the Chesapeake Campus and will be expanded in 1988 through a grant from the Alison and Ella Parsons Foundation.
- 1980 Governor John Dalton dedicates the new classroom building at the Chesapeake Campus. The Grammar Hotline, which quickly rises to national recognition, is established on the Virginia Beach Campus.
- 1981 James C. Sears is named provost of the Frederick Campus. Tidewater Community College, through the Virginia Tidewater Consortium, begins offering college telecourses on Cox cable television. A $6.2 million, three-phase construction project at the Frederick Campus is completed.
- 1982 Groundbreaking begins on the Pungo Building at the Virginia Beach Campus. The building will house humanities classes, including art and drama programs.
- 1984 The Chesapeake Campus opens the region's first robotics lab, and the Frederick Campus initiates a $126,000 computer-aided drafting program.
- 1985 Deborah M. DiCroce is named provost of the Frederick Campus.
- 1986 Gov. Gerald L. Baliles dedicates the Pungo Building at the Virginia Beach Campus. A two-year decline in enrollment mandates the first TCC reduction in force.
- 1987 The Frederick Campus is renamed the Frederick W. Beazley Portsmouth Campus to better reflect its ties to the city. TCC's international education program is established, the first among community colleges in Virginia. The first Aids Awareness Seminar is taught at the Portsmouth Campus.

- 1988 As a part of the VCCS, Tidewater Community College converts from the quarter system to the semester system. Dr. DiCroce serves as co-chair of the VCCS conversion process.
- 1989 Belle S. Wheelan becomes provost of the Portsmouth Campus. The Norfolk City Council endorses the establishment of a TCC campus in Norfolk.
- 1990 The Norfolk Center is opened in downtown Norfolk.
- 1991 Larry L. Whitworth is selected president. Former President George B. Pass dies.
- 1992 Samuel H. Lamb becomes provost of the Portsmouth Campus. John Massey is named director of development for the Norfolk Campus.
- 1993 The Women's Center, to promote economic self-sufficiency for women, is established on the Portsmouth Campus. Within three years, it evolves from a single campus to a college-wide entity with offices on all four campuses.
- 1994 With start-up costs funded by the Virginia General Assembly and a substantial contribution by the City of Norfolk, construction begins on the Norfolk Campus. TCC begins offering on-line, distance learning. On the Chesapeake Campus, construction begins on a building, later to be named the Marian P. Whitehurst Technology Center, that will provide more computer labs and classrooms. The building was funded through the state's General Obligation Bond for Higher Education.
- 1995 The Visual Arts Center opens in the old Famous department store building in Olde Towne Portsmouth with Anne Iott as founding director.
- 1996 Michael LaBouve dies unexpectedly, and E.T. (Joe) Buchanan is named provost of the Virginia Beach Campus.
- 1997 John Massey is named the founding provost of the Norfolk Campus, which officially becomes the Thomas W. Moss Jr. Campus of Tidewater Community College. The campus, a $26 million project, includes the Stanley C. Walker Technologies Building, the Mason C. Andrews Science Building, and the Alvah H. Martin Building. Larry Whitworth resigns as president, and Timothy Kerr is appointed interim president. Through a gift from Jeanne and George Roper, the Hampton Roads Maritime Training Center is established. Located in the Stanley C. Walker Technologies Building, it offers Coast Guard approved courses in all aspects of seamanship.
- 1998 Deborah M. DiCroce is named the fourth president of Tidewater Community College. TCC begins the celebration of its 30th anniversary. The college starts the first of five years of unprecedented and record enrollment growth.
- 1999 In January, the College launches a major planning initiative designed to position TCC as a national model for community colleges in the next century -- as the new millennium's strategic community college. The initiative frames the College's comprehensive mission via a two-pronged "mission core" of college transfer and workforce development. In March, the inauguration of President DiCroce becomes the first such ceremony in the history of the college. On June 18, guests gathered to witness the groundbreaking ceremony marking the beginning of the renovation of the historic, long-closed Loews Theater at 340 Granby Street in downtown Norfolk. On December 13, the president submits an Impact Report on Relocation of the Portsmouth Campus to the State Board for Community Colleges and the Chancellor of the VCCS.
- 2000 The Loews Theater, renamed the Jeanne and George Roper Performing Arts Center, becomes the fourth building in the ongoing development of the Norfolk Campus and features lecture halls, large computer labs, meeting rooms, faculty offices, and the 832-seat theater.
- 2001 John Massey announces his retirement as the Norfolk Campus Provost and Valarie Evans serves as Chief Campus Administrator in the interim. Consultants complete a feasibility study on the Portsmouth Campus relocation.

- 2002 The Advanced Technology Center, located on the Virginia Beach Campus, opens its doors for students. Quintin Bullock is selected as the second provost for the Norfolk Campus. Voters approve the Higher Education General Obligation Bond Referendum which includes $40 million in projects for TCC.
- 2003 Timothy Kerr announces his retirement as the founding provost of the Chesapeake Campus, and Linda M. Rice is named as the second provost of the campus. The Advanced Technology Center is officially dedicated April 30, 2003, with Governor Mark Warner as the featured speaker. TCC implements a new Student Information System with the summer term. In July 2003, the college relocates District Office personnel and functions from the Portsmouth Campus site in Suffolk to office space in downtown Norfolk. The State Board for Community Colleges grants conceptual approval for relocating the Portsmouth Campus to the Victory Crossing Business Park.
- 2004 Terry Jones is named as the Acting Provost of the Portsmouth Campus to provide the leadership necessary for the relocation planning for the New Portsmouth Campus.
- 2005 The college relocates the president and other district office staff from 121 College Place to temporary quarters at 500 E. Main Street in Norfolk. The State Board approves the purchase of "condominium space" for the entire District Office in the new mixed-use building that will be constructed on the site of the old 121 College Place building. The college receives the largest donation in its history, $1.4 million, from the Beazley Foundation to help establish the Beazley School of Nursing on the New Portsmouth Campus. Terry Jones is named Provost of the Portsmouth Campus.

CHESAPEAKE CAMPUS

Located on sixty-nine acres off Cedar Road between Great Bridge and Deep Creek, the Chesapeake Campus was established in 1973 when the City of Chesapeake purchased the former Chesapeake College. It presently consists of two permanent buildings, four temporary structures, and various rented classroom facilities. The George W. Pass building houses academic programs, administration, student services, and the Learning Resources Center. The Marian P. Whitehurst Technology Center contains classrooms, laboratories, and a conference center.

NORFOLK CAMPUS

The Norfolk Campus was part of the original campus master plan for the Virginia Community College System. Its doors opened in January 1997 as a result of a combined effort with the City of Norfolk in planning a downtown campus. The Martin Building was donated by the heirs of Alvah H. Martin and contains the campus Learning Resources Center, classrooms, faculty and administrative offices, and training and conference facilities. The Mason C. Andrews Building contains student services, laboratories, classrooms, and faculty offices. The Stanley C. Walker Technologies Building houses computer laboratories, classrooms, and faculty offices. The renovated Jeanne and George Roper Performing Arts Center opened in July 2000; this performing arts facility supports local, community, regional and national events, and is equipped with state-of-the-art acoustical, audio, video, production, and staging equipment.

PORTSMOUTH CAMPUS

The Portsmouth Campus, which is located seven miles west of Portsmouth near Interstate 664, was formerly the site of Frederick College. It encompasses five hundred twenty acres of property on the James River; the land was donated by Frederick W. Beazley and the Beazley Foundation. The academic building, named for Frederick W. Beazley, totals 201,000 gross square feet and houses academic programs, administrative offices, the Learning Resources Center, and student services.

VIRGINIA BEACH CAMPUS

The campus was established in temporary quarters on Camp Pendleton, a state military reservation, in 1971. It opened in fall of 1974 as a permanent campus, constructed on one hundred fifteen acres off Princess Anne Road. Each of the buildings is named for a borough of Virginia Beach - Princess Anne, Bayside, Blackwater, Kempsville, Pungo, Lynnhaven and Virginia Beach. Five are academic buildings, one a Learning Resources Center, and one houses administrative offices and student services. The Advanced Technology Center (ATC) opened at the end of 2002; it is a cooperative venture and partnership between the City of Virginia Beach, the Virginia Beach City Public Schools, and TCC.

VISUAL ARTS CENTER

The Visual Arts Center (VAC), TCC at Olde Towne, Portsmouth is the only facility of its kind based at a community college in Virginia. The center opened in January 1995 and is located in the former Famous Building at the corner of High and Court Streets. The 33,330 square-foot Visual Arts Center houses programs that allow students to prepare for a career in the visual arts, to transfer to upper level colleges and universities, and/or explore their interest in art. The three-story facility houses administrative offices, glass blowing studio, galleries, sculpture, ceramic, digital photography, painting, drawing, and design studios, lecture rooms, and graphic and computer design studios. In addition, there is a 40,000 piece Books & Image Library which is housed on the second floor.
